Library & Information Services

The Sydney College of Divinity is a Higher Education Provider of high quality, accredited awards in theology and related areas, delivered both directly and through the teaching colleges that are its member institutions.

Individual SCD libraries support the educational requirements of students and staff by providing accessible information in the form of books, periodicals and electronic resources.

The SCD Libraries Common Portal allows web access to the SCD libraries for all users. It can be accessed from the SCD website: <http://scd.edu.au/>.

The SCD library community also affords enrolled students, as well as staff, the unique facility of reciprocal borrowing amongst the individual libraries. To make use of this facility, all you need to do is download the form from your college website or obtain a form at your library. You can then present the completed form signed by the librarian of your home institution, with your student or staff ID, at the library from which you wish to borrow. Students studying by distance can arrange to borrow from any SCD library by mailing or faxing the completed form and photocopy of their student ID to the library from which they wish to borrow.

Australian College of Ministries

At this time the ACOM collection remains dispersed, but ACOM students may access other libraries under special arrangements with Wesley Institute (Sydney), Nazarene Theological College (Brisbane), Ridley College (Melbourne) and Churches of Christ Theological College (Melbourne). These specific arrangements do not extend to other SCD students.
